APRIL 1991

APRIL • ENVIRONMENTAL AWARENESS MONTH

Report to the Listeners

Valerie van Isler, Interim General Manager

It was T.S. Eliot who wrote, "April is the cruelest month, breeding lilacs out of the dead land." Within that paradox lies the eternal promise of renewal for yet another spring. As we move into this season which engages the wondrous energies of rebirth from the ashes of winter and war, WBAI will be featuring special broadcasts on the environment both at home and abroad as we continue to monitor the terrible aftermath of the Gulf crisis on the region and beyond.

We are also at work on many proposals for the station to help insure some long-term stability throughout the decade of the 90s and beyond the year 2000. These involve the new transmitter and master antenna projects which are scheduled for the next several months; the WBAI-Pacifica Task Force for long-term planning and audience expansion; a strong emphasis on over-all station development and promotion; and both national and international outreach for our programming during the coming years. Throughout this time, we will need your continued commitment and support in order to accomplish this dynamic agenda for you and for WBAI.

economics decoded

You may have heard Doug Henwood's economic analysis on WBAI. You can read his analysis of the material world in Left Business Observer. LBO is a monthly newsletter that covers everything from Third World debt to the New York fiscal crisis; from modern clerical work (and the women who do it) to perestroika; from European integration to the decline in U.S. living standards. Plus regular coverage of the world's financial markets and central banks (including our Federal Reserve).

New subscribers get a free copy of issue #44, with articles on:

- Kuwait before and after the war
- when Iraq was Washington's friend
- South Africa after apartheid.

Remembering Mingus

by Lee Lowenfish

Charlie/Charles Mingus was larger than life, and it seems that everyone has a Mingus memory. Bill Farrar, my jazz mentor and long-time host of WBAI's peripatetic Jazz Sampler program (now alternating with Mahmoud's Stolen Moments Tuesdays from 9-10PM), recalls fearing for the life of the bass when Mingus would approach it at a live jazz gig. The Reverend John Garcia Gensel, the renowned jazz pastor at St. Peter's Lutheran Church (located in the Citicorp Center), recalls going out almost every night to hear Mingus during the bassist's New York heyday in the 1950s and 1960s. "It's all a sea the way his spirit washes and roars through me," recalls writer Al Young in the memoir he co-authored with Janet Coleman, Mingus/Mingus (to be reissued in paperback by Limelight Books in the fall of 1991).

From the Program Director

Andrew Phillips

During April we think about our environment. With the Gulf War receding, perhaps we can turn our attention to the home front. This month, that's exactly what we plan. Please note our special programming on redistricting and political power (Wednesday, April 10, 1- 4:30PM) and the city budget (Thursday the 18th from 7-11PM).

We have reconfigured our Saturday evening lineup, providing an additional 30 minutes of women's programming and re-establishing the time taken from Soundtrack and Golden Age of Radio. Radio Unmamable and World Dance Party are transposed, with Bob Fass moving to the later time of 11PM and Al Angeloro to 9PM. Both programs are now two hours in duration. I am sorry that some time has been taken from both these shows, but I have done this in search of balance and fairness for the entire lineup. It has also meant more time for women's programming.

Stay tuned!

Iraqophobia Breeds Nest of Spies

Samori Marksman

Now that the overt phase of the U.S. war against Iraq has ended—short of the Bush Administration's aim of overthrowing the Iraqi regime and assassinating Saddam Hussein—the Anglo-American program to liquidate the Iraqi head-of-state is taking a more covert form. No fewer than five major imperial intelligence organizations have been recruited to "get the job done": Britain's MI-6, France's SDECE, Germany's BND, Israel's MOSSAD, and the U.S.' CIA. Lesser players, such as the Syrian, Kuwaiti, and Saudi Arabian intelligence agencies, as well as elements within the Soviet Union's KGB, have also been tapped.

What exactly are these agencies? And just how do they intend to get rid of Saddam Hussein?

More importantly, what has been their history of operations in the region (and throughout the "Third World")? How many governments have they toppled? How many prominent figures have they assassinated or otherwise destroyed? What is the nature of their inter-agency cooperation? And what does former CIA operative and director, now president, George Bush have to do with all of this? (Continued on letters page in back)

We're Gonna Party Til It's 1999

and its Director Anthony J. Sloan

Our new Arts Director in but three of his many positions.

"White, Black, Puerto Rican: Everybody just a freakin'. Prince

Ah-h-h-h, the Arts Department at WBAI-FM, one of the five Pacifica stations located in various regions of the modern wilderness of North America.

The Arts Department, which encompasses the Drama and Literature aspects of radio as well as music and "entertainment" radio magazines, and all sorts of hybrids.

The Arts Department, where the famous and the infamous have a place to "hang"—a place to grow, to experiment—a place to catapult from....

The Arts Department, one of the only things I can truly say I love in this life.

"If I can't dance, you can keep your revolution."
Coca Crystal

I believe WBAI is a good, very good place. I also believe in the arts as a force for all-kind. To this end, as your new and extremely dedicated arts director, I will do—good: one of those famous four-lettered words we have in the English language. How much "four-lettering" I can do depends largely upon the persons in our beleaguered ArtsDepartment—we have at least until 1999.

"Before anything else, liberation is an act of culture."
Amilcar Cabral

Redistricting and Political Power: A WBAI Community Roundtable

Wednesday April 10 1-4:30pm

The current redistricting process represents the most radical restructuring of municipal government in New York City's history. The size of the City Council will be expanded from 35 to 51 seats. Fifty-one new council districts will be created, not just 16. This means all the council lines will be redrawn; and there are no guarantees that incumbents will be protected. Of course, powerful incumbents are trying to influence the Districting Commission to do exactly that: draw new city council lines that will re-elect those already in office. However, the official mandate of the Districting Commission is to maximize the representation of people of color ("previously-excluded groups") on the City Council. Because of historical voting discrimination in New York City, the Justice Department must approve of any redistricting plan.

In this special afternoon roundtable, WBAI looks to alert New Yorkers about the scope of this landmark process called "redistricting," putting forth in a frank and understandable way what's at stake for our communities and the city as a whole. The first in a three-part monthly series, Redistricting and Political Power will bring together voices from various parts of the city to discuss the Community Services Society's own redistricting plan, before the NYC Commission releases its proposal. How are the new districts going to be broken up? Are African American, Latino, and Asian voices going to be represented in the new City Council in a way that reflects the rapidly changing demographics of the city? How can we get more people active in the process?

These and other key issues will be addressed, and listener participation will be encouraged. Hosted by Jennie Bourne and produced by the Public Affairs and News Departments of WBAI.

1:00 Back of the Book. Okay, a month ago, at Folio deadline, the faucet in my bathroom blows up—at 3 AM. Water all over the place. This posed a great threat to the National Debris Preserve, in which I live. In an effort to prevent the water from ruining the toxic sludge with which my sink is lined I got soaked unnecessarily 3 times, do we detect a learning curve? Water water everywhere, and I began to sink. Due to this disaster I will be unable to render the usual precise description of this program. 1:00 Healing the Planet: Care and Repair of Planet Earth. Does Economic Growth Mean Environmental Havoc? While many environmentalists have argued that our economy cannot continue to expand if we alter the current course of environmental degradation, author Hazel Henderson presents a strong argument for what she calls "sustainable development" for the 1990s.

1:30 The Alliance Report. Produced in association with the National Alliance of Third World Journalists.

2:30 Rediscovering Columbus: Countdown to '92 Environmental Awareness Month Special: Reclaiming Paradise. When the first Europeans landed on this side of the Atlantic in what many history books call "the discovery of the New World," they found a land of sparkling rivers and bountiful forests, of plant and animal life intermixing in what truly was a natural system of living beings. With the forced implementation of European survival techniques and the ruthless exploitation of resources, it was only a matter of time before the original systems would be permanently altered and destroyed.

WBAI continues its series on the upcoming quincentennial celebration of Columbus' encounter with the Western Hemisphere with a special look at the environmental costs of the European's exploits. We will explore some of the lifestyles and techniques of the land's original inhabitants and see how the White Man's philosophy of using land for profit was completely alien to the indigenous population. Included will be a look at the perpetuation of this legacy, with a special focus on how the U.S. Army's use of the Puerto Rican island of Vieques has led to the destruction of ecosystems there, taking with it the livelihood of the island's inhabitants. Produced by Lisa Maya Knauer, Mario A. Murillo, and Phillip Tajitsu Nash.

WBAI Presents:

Fighting for a People's Budget in New York City

April 18, 1991 from 7:00 - 11:00 p.m

A Community-Labor Forum for Social and Economic Justice is being organized to bring together activists from community, labor, social justice, and political organizations who are developing a fight-back strategy. Our driving purpose is to restore economic equality and human rights; redistribute the wealth and resources of this city; and demand a more just tax system so that poor and working people, especially people of color, do not continue to bear a tax burden that the wealthy and the power brokers avoid.

Recent events highlight the fact that forty years of cold war spending, continuing in the Persian Gulf at the cost of over $1 billion per day, have contributed to the economic crisis that engulfs our city and cities around the country. The militarization of our society, the dramatic and documented unequal distribution of wealth, and excessive tax inequities have combined to create a government that has withdrawn from its responsibility to protect human services—without the consent of the governed. The impact of these policies on the poor and working people of New York City is devastating. The Mayor and the Governor are projecting huge budget deficits which they say require them to make drastic cuts in services and the public work force, perpetuating the division in our city, state, and nation into the very rich and the mass population struggling to survive.

WBAI's forum for activists will combine analysis of the proposed city budget cuts and the impact of federal and state policies in areas including education, health care, AIDS, employment, youth, housing, unemployment, welfare rights, criminal justice, racial justice, transportation, the environment, arts, culture, and much more. A major thrust will be to develop an action plan and a People's Budget that will include an emphasis on economic equality and human needs with creative ideas to develop new revenues on the city, state, and federal levels, including proposals for a more just tax system and the necessary reordering of priorities on all levels of government.

6:00 A Morning Show Special with Mario Murillo. At 7:00, tune in for Nicaragua: One Year with Chamorro—Progress or Regress? During ten years of war against the Frente Sandinista de la Liberacion Nacional (FSLN) in Nicaragua, the United States often used the shrinking Nicaraguan economy as a symbol of the revolution's general failure. The Bush Administration greeted last year's FSLN election defeat with great satisfaction and has subsequently put Nicaragua on the back burner as it seeks to manipulate other parts of the world in its "new world order." In this special, WBAI will look closely at how Nicaragua has fared since the transfer of power one year ago and what impact the FSLN has as it governs "from below."

Since then, Patinkin has released two solo albums, had a month-long sold-out Broadway run of his show Mandy Patinkin: Dress Casual, and performed Mandy Patinkin With Orchestra for two nights at Lincoln Center's Avery Fisher Hall. Join Mandy Patinkin as he talks about his life and his music on WBAI's long-running series of performer profiles. Produced and hosted by Joseph Hurley.

A Where We Live Special: Leonard Peltier—A Body Chained/A Spirit Free.

American Indian Movement (AIM) leader Leonard Peltier has been jailed since February 6, 1976 on charges that he murdered two FBI agents on South Dakota's Pine Ridge Reservation. The deaths of those two agents culminated four years of war on the Sioux land as traditionalists struggled with Bureau of Indian Affairs(BIA) tribal government leaders.

In this Pine Ridge community of 10,000 Indians, 60 people died as a result of this war. Peltier, a leading figure in the community, was charged with the murders. These charges were based on the fact that he took part in the shootout.

Ironically enough, at the exact time this shootout occurred, BIA Tribal Council leader Dick Wilson was in Washington dealing away one-eighth of the Pine Ridge Reservation to the Pentagon for use as a navy bomb testing site. Peltier maintains his innocence.

In this Where We Live special, join hosts Zenzile Khoisan and Sally O'Brien for a special interview granted exclusively to WBAI and conducted by Kurt Demster of the Ensemble Studio Theatre.

Peltier speaks about the Pine Ridge incident, his case, and shares some of his personal views.

Unfortunately, I never saw Mingus perform live, but became entranced with him on recording. When I have played his work for students in the "Jazz Finders" class that I have been conducting for the past three years at the 92nd Street YM-YWHA, the response has almost always been invariably positive. The volcanic romanticism of Mingus' music has a magnetic appeal, whether it is the primordial sounds of "Pithecanthropus Erectus," the honking traffic noises on his version of Gershwin's "A Foggy Day (in Londontown)," his haunting farewell to Lester Young, "Goodbye Porkpie Hat," or the irresistible blues feeling in "Better Git It In Your Soul."

Mingus lives among us in so many ways despite his early death caused by the still-incurable Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis (Lou Gehrig's disease). His music continues to inspire new and old musicians and listeners. His efforts as the creator of a Jazz Workshop for his musical peers and as founder of his own record label are still very relevant examples.

Relive with us some of his most creative and happiest moments at the kind of birthday party he would have liked—filled with joy, good friends, storytelling, humor, and plenty of wonderful music. That's A Mingus Birthday Party, Monday night April 22 from 9-11PM.

Tune in to World View every Monday (7:00PM-8:30PM) throughout the month of April for this special series, The Real Security Council.

Former intelligence agency directors, operatives, elected officials, journalists, and victims of these agencies' programs will form the core of experts who will examine the global intelligence networks—their individual histories, structures, and programs, as well as their joint ventures.

Guests will include former CIA directors, William Colby and Stansfield Turner; former operatives Ralph McGehee, Philip Agee, and Harry Rositzke; journalists Bob Woodward, Bill Schaap, Dave Emory, Diana Reynolds, and Sarah Miles; historians Robin Winks and Charles Allen.

Featured will be a segment on the interrelationships between many major U.S. and other multinational corporations and the global intelligence network. There will also be a special expose of the close links between these agencies and neo-Nazi, white racist, republican, and other neofascist movements in Western Europe and North America.

This series is produced by World View and Behind the News Executive Producer, Samori Marksman; with Dave Emory, Lou Wolf, Gerald Horne, and Andrea Staritz.

TALKBACK!

Dear Mario Murillo,
I really appreciated (as a member) getting the chance this morning before I left for work to hear a program about women's health issues. It would be great if this was a regular morning show, especially in light of the women's health crisis in this country (and especially for poor women who rely on free resources like the radio for information). There are natural remedies we can learn about on the radio that are inexpensive and effective.

This is an invaluable resource and it's better for women than Gary Null because it's women and because the focus is on us. It helps us to network. Also, having it in the morning before work is a very convenient time.

I hope you will make this a regular program. More women seemed to be calling the station than I usually hear calling in for other programs.

Thank you, M. Goodman

Laura Sydell will now host the Tuesday Morning Show, beginning at 6:00AM. Eds.

Dear Manya,
Thank you and thanks to WBAI for Ring Day. WBAI and the Ring are beacons of hope in this sad, sad world....

Sincerely, T. F. Chisena
Brooklyn, NY

Dear Mr Murillo,
It was wonderful to hear the voice of Edward Said, his luminous passion, exposing the truth of the Gulf War. While I am very grateful for our intelligentsia of the left, I feel that with the best of intentions, they tend to view the world through Western glasses. Therefore, in this Middle East tragedy, Edward Said's voice is one I welcomed.

Sincerely, N Kelleran

Dear Tom Wisker,
I wanted to say how much I've been enjoying your expanded presence on BAI with your work on Investigations. I try to listen to Weaponry as often as possible, but there are times I do fall asleep in the middle of the show....

Sincerely, D. Schank

must be placed by mail (WBAI, 505 Eighth Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10018), by fax, or by dropping them during business hours at the station; they cannot be taken by phone. Use the form on the back. You must attach a check (payable to WBAI) in the full amount, or your VISA or Mastercharge number; we cannot bill or accept other credit cards, such as American Express. The deadline for us to receive ads is always the fourth of the previous month: Nov. 4 for December, etc.... No exceptions can be made. We cannot guarantee placement of any ad at any time and retain the right to refuse any ad (refunding your money, of course) for any reason. The cost is $15 (the minimum) for the first 35 words and $ .50 for each additional word.

Your ad may be for any legal purpose. You may offer your services, sell your product, seek a lover, promote your organization or whatever. We strongly recommend personal ads use a P.O. box or similar (which we cannot provide), and never list a phone number. All ads will be formatted as below. The first few words are bold, and no other style is available.
